

GERMANS WIDEN SCOPE OF OPERATIONS ON NORTH, APPARENTLY WITH DRIVE FOR CALAIS IN VIEW; AMERICANS ENGAGED IN SOMME BATTLE

BLOWS DELIVERED EAST OF ARRAS BELIEVED TO MEAN EFFORT TO REACH CHANNEL

Fierce Fighting Continues Along the Somme With British Taking Prisoners and Machine Guns; Repeated Attacks Near Beaumont-Hamel are Thrown Back; Wounded French Captain Highly Praises Valor of American Troops; Wounded Sammies are Brought Back to Paris; Recapture of Odessa is Confirmed; British Capture 3,000 Turks in Mesopotamia.

AMERICANS ON SOMME BEHAVE LIKE VETERANS

LONDON, March 28.—Prisoners and machine guns have been captured by the British, the war office announces. The fighting continues fiercely on both banks of the Somme.

Repeated attacks were made by the enemy along the banks of the Somme in the neighborhood of Beaumont-Hamel and Moyenneville. They were repulsed. This morning the enemy opened a heavy bombardment on the British defenses east of Arras. An attack is developing in this sector.

The statement follows: "Severe fighting took place again yesterday evening and during the night astride the Somme and northward from Albert to Boulogne. Repeated attacks were made by the enemy along the banks of the Somme and in the neighborhood of Beaumont-Hamel and Moyenneville. We captured a number of prisoners and a number of machine guns.

"The fighting is continuing fiercely on both banks of the Somme."

The reference in the official statement to an attack east of Arras evidently means that the Germans have widened their battle front and are delivering a new stroke on the north. The battle was begun last week on a front extending as far north as the river Scarpe, the junction of which with the battle line is almost due east of Arras. No fighting north of the river has been reported.

The attacks which are developing today may mark the beginning of the second phase of the battle. German military writers in the last few days have been hinting that surprises were in store for the British and there has been much discussion of the possibility of a German drive for the coast with the channel ports of Calais and Dunkirk as the objectives.

PARIS, March 28.—"Entirely new in this warfare; the Americans worked like the best veterans in the battle of the Somme," says a wounded French captain who has been brought back from the front, according to La Liberté.

Two of the American officers who were wounded, were brought back with the French captain, a member of the dragoons. Each American wore a French war cross conferred on the battlefield.

The French captain refused to receive attention until the Americans alongside of him had first been nursed.

"They are the ones who should be congratulated," he said, calling upon the women of the Red Cross to look after the Americans.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 28.—Hard fighting occurred at several points along the battlefield during the night in consequence of enemy attacks. The latest reports indicate that the British have kept the situation well in hand.

Near Beaumont-Hamel the enemy attacked heavily. Severe fighting followed. This morning it appeared that the village virtually was No Man's Land with the contending lines drawn close on either side.

The German artillery this morning put down an intense bombardment along the line between Achilleville and the Scarpe river (south of Lens) but up to the time of the filing of this dispatch (10 A. M.) no infantry action has been reported.

The Germans made several assaults near Rossmignol wood but on each occasion were driven back. Near Sailly-Laurette another sharp engagement occurred and here also the British maintained themselves and secured prisoners.

The Germans are continuing to bring up artillery and rush in new troops from various parts of the line in preparation for the continuance of the drive.

LONDON, March 28.—The entire Turkish force in the Hitt area in Mesopotamia has been captured or destroyed by the British, the war office announces. Three thousand prisoners were taken.

Hitt is on the Euphrates river 100 miles west of Baghdad. The town was evacuated on March 9 by the Turks who fell back to Khan-Beghdadi, 22 miles above Hitt, before the British column operating along the Euphrates which has been conducting a vigorous and successful campaign.

FRENCH BLACK HUNS NEAR MONT DIDIER

PARIS, March 28.—Blocked on the Somme and northward from Albert to Boulogne, the Germans last night threw forward important forces in the region of Mont Didier, the war office announced today. Here the fighting rapidly took on extraordinary ferocity. French regiments were hand to hand with the enemy and inflicted heavy losses.

Finally the French fell back to the west of Mont Didier.

The official statement follows: "The battle was fought with un-

BRITISH ADMIT LOSING 600 GUNS AND 100 TANKS.

LONDON, March 28.—England in considering her losses in the fighting in France must take into consideration "the usual German exaggeration," Major General Frederick H. Maurice, chief director of military operations at the war office said today.

"In the past," he declared, "the Germans have usually given the capture of prisoners and guns in round numbers, not as actually counted but as anticipated from the general situation. It is reasonable to assume that the same thing is being done now."

"Our total loss of guns either from falling into the hands of the enemy or by being knocked out is about 600 according to our best information. This compares with the German claim of 950."

"We have lost probably about 100 tanks which we used extensively in the counter attacks."

ALLIED COUNTER OFFENSIVE NOT LONG WAY OFF.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—American staff officers studying closely the war maps and latest dispatches from the battle front are of the opinion that developments of moment in the allied counter attack will begin to show themselves on the battlefield today or tomorrow.

FRENCH REFUGEES CLAIM IN QUARTY GARR.

BRITISH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 28.—The French refugees of the better class of those who are departing from the zone of actual operations are coming out clad in all their finery which represents the style of four or five years ago. They are sturdy peasants with wooden shoes and clumsily constructed clothes, riding in vehicles drawn by horses or donkeys or in carts pulled by men, and some are even in wheelbarrows.

RECAPTURE OF ODESSA CONFIRMED BY PETROGRAD.

PETROGRAD, March 28.—Official dispatches published here confirm the report that Odessa has been recaptured by the Bolshevik troops. Odessa was first bombarded by cruisers from Sebastopol. There was desperate fighting for three days in the vicinity of Sebastopol between the Bolshevik and Austro-German detachments.

LOYD GEORGE APPEAL IN TO APPEAL OF U. S.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The appeal of Lloyd George for urgent haste in American troop movement to France read in New York last night by Lord Reading, British Ambassador, was viewed here today as a call to the American people.

British officials have already fully advised as to the situation here and know that the American government is straining every resource to get men to the front and has confident hopes of placing a force of a million or more men in the field during the present year.

The rate at which troops are expected to go forward cannot be stated for military reasons but it is largely dependent upon the speed with which ships are turned out.

LOOT VALUED AT $400 IS RECOVERED BY THE POLICE IN FEW HOURS

Stock Taken From Penn Traffic Department Store Located in Little of Same Building.

Goods estimated to be worth $400 stolen from the Penn Traffic Department store last night, were recovered shortly before noon today by City Detective J. W. Mitchell and Patrolman P. M. Rull. The goods were discovered in the attic of the same building occupied by the department store. A woman has been arrested as implicated in the robbery.

This morning the proprietor of the store estimated that about six or seven men's suits and several ladies' suits had been taken, together with some silk dresses. When the loot was discovered 20 silk dresses, many ladies' suits and other wearing apparel were found. The stolen goods had been packed into several suitcases in addition to that which was carried out in the curtain bag.

The police were summoned this morning shortly after the store was opened when the robbery was discovered. Boxes which had contained hosiery and shoes were strewn about the floor and coat hangers had been dropped after the suits had been taken from them. No cash was secured, there being only a few pennies in the register.

DRIVE FOR FARM LABOR RECRUITS BEGINS MONDAY

Start Will Be Made at Meeting of Business Men to Be Held in Evening.

GIVE UP YOUR VACATION

Or a Part of It to Work With the Farmers to Produce Larger Crops for War Needs; Manager Coming.

The Connellsville Agricultural Labor Service Committee will hold an important meeting on Monday evening for the purpose of enlisting recruits for summer work on the farms of this community. Chairman Robert Morris has called the meeting for 8 o'clock in the store of Hooper & Long, near Brimstone corner.

An urgent appeal is made for every business man to be on hand, and to bring along as many others as possible. Steps will be taken towards the organization of volunteer teams which will go out upon the farms.

This meeting will follow up the work which was started last week, and which received such cordial support at the dinner which was given the farmers last Friday. At that time the farmers indicated that they would cordially welcome assistance of the kind which Connellsville proposes to offer, and Chairman Morris now wants to see that Connellsville is to make good.

"Spend your vacation on the farm" will be the slogan. It will be the aim to enlist patriotic citizens willing to give their one or two weeks' vacations toward helping grow a bumper crop in Fayette county. For those who cannot give their full vacations, or do not get vacations, it is proposed to enlist teams of men who will give one or two days a week during the summer to this work.

The Connellsville plan is modeled after that which was successful in New Castle last year. Lawrence county made good with a few teams and proposes to have at least 100 different teams in the field this year. Connellsville expects to enlist a substantial number of teams, with from 12 to 15 on each team.

Announcement has just been made by the Committee of Public Safety that a farm labor manager is to be on the job in the county this year. He will cooperate with the county farm agent and is to keep in close touch with the labor situation. It will be through his office that the farmers needing labor will be brought into touch with the volunteers that are available. The farm labor manager, who will be named at an early date, will have charge of the organization of volunteer farm labor organizations elsewhere in the county. The Connellsville plan will be used as a model.

MINISTERS PAY HIGH TRIBUTE TO REV. WAGNER

Resolutions of Respect and Condolence Adopted at Meeting Yesterday.

HAD HIGH SENSE OF HONOR

War True to His Calling and Content to Serve His Fellow Men at All Times; Laid to Rest in State at Reformed Church Until Funeral Hour.

Ministers of the Westmoreland Classis, assisted by Rev. Ellis B. Burgess, of the Trinity Lutheran church, who will represent the Connellsville Ministerial association, will officiate at the funeral of Rev. Charles E. Wagner, to be held this evening at 7:30 o'clock from the Trinity Reformed church in East Green street, of which Rev. Wagner was pastor. The body will lay in state in the church from 5 o'clock this afternoon until the hour for the services. Rev. J. M. Mullan of Baltimore, superintendent of Home Missions of the Reformed church, will officiate at short services to be held Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the home of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Wenzel at Carlisle.

At a meeting of the Ministerial association yesterday the following resolutions were adopted:

"Since it has pleased our Father in heaven to allow one of our brethren to enter upon his reward, we, the members of the Ministerial association of Connellsville, desire to record the following tribute to his character and life."

Rev. Charles E. Wagner for more than nine years has lived and labored for the Master in Connellsville. As a member of our association, he was faithful, ready to perform any duty, kind and courteous in his brethren, earnest, thoughtful and without pretense. Plain spoken, he yet gave no offense, nor took any. He made his position clear and without respect for himself, content to serve wherever called. To do what he could, with the strength he had, without complaint, and leave the results with God, always seemed to him to be his duty. As a man he was quiet, reserved, not so quick to make friends as he was sure to keep them. Humble in mind, pure in heart, he was a man whom his brethren in the ministry, we wish to express to the community, in life, who so lovingly and so faithfully shared in his plans and work, and to their true sympathy in their loss, to commend them to the love and care and comfort of the Savior whom his husband and father preached, and to remind them that the memory of his life and the certainty of his reward must prove the greatest solace in their sorrow."

This tribute to our friend, who has fallen asleep in desire to have printed in our city papers, to have recorded in our minutes and a copy sent to the bereaved family.

CHILD ELOPER NABBED

Girl of 12 Whose Father is on Trial for Life Caught Here.

Herbert Masters, 21 years old, of Cheat Haven, and Miss Dorothy Chandler, 12 year old daughter of Joseph F. Chandler, also of Cheat Haven, who is on trial in Uniontown for murder, were apprehended by the police here last night while presumably eloping to Cumberland to be married. The girl was turned over to the probation officer, Miss Anne White, who will take her to her Cheat Haven home today.

The attention of the police was called to the couple after they had registered at a local hotel for supper. They were arrested by Patrolman Turner and Gelger at 8:10 o'clock.

The girl wears dresses barely below her knees. She came directly to this city last night after strictly at the trial of her father. She said her age was 16 years, but her father declared she was not near that old. Masters is still in the lockup.

JUDSON A. LYON, WELL KNOWN BUSINESS MAN, DIES IN HOSPITAL

Had Been Ill Since Christmas and the End Was Not Unexpected; Had Active Career.

Judson A. Lyon, 57 years old, a well known business man of Connellsville, died this morning at 1 o'clock in the Mercy hospital, Pittsburgh. Death was not unexpected. He had been failing in health since about last Christmas and some weeks ago went to the Marquette sanatorium in hopes of deriving benefit. At the time the sanatorium was taken over by the government he returned to his home, and Tuesday a week ago he was admitted to the Mercy hospital, undergoing an operation on the following Thursday. Mr. Lyon's wife and his brother, Rice C. Lyon, were at his bedside when death came. The body arrived here this afternoon and was removed to the family residence, No. 530 East Crawford avenue from where the funeral, the notice of which will be announced later, will take place.

Mr. Lyon was born on the old Lyon homestead at Pennsville, October 29, 1861, a son of the late William Christian and Elizabeth Lyon. He was educated in the public schools, and in 1880 entered the employ of the Pennsylvania railroad company as a fireman. In 1885 he was promoted to an engineer. He soon afterwards left the railroad, and for nine years was in the employ of the H. C. Frick Coke company as a stationary engineer. After leaving the service of the company he went into the grocery business in East Crawford avenue in 1898, conducting a successful business for a number of years. Disposing of his business he entered the employ of J. R. Davidson, the West Crawford avenue grocer, remaining there until nearly a year ago when he resigned and went into the most business in South Pittsburgh street, which business he was in at the time of his death.

Having resided in Connellsville for many years, Mr. Lyon had a wide host of friends by whom he was held in the highest of esteem.

Mr. Lyon married Miss Amanda Baer, daughter of the late Benjamin and Amanda Butlermore Baer. To the union two children were born, Margaret and Gladys, both at home. In addition to his widow and two daughters, Mr. Lyon is survived by the following brothers and sisters: Rice C. Lyon of Connellsville; William Sherman Lyon, Killbuck Park; George Adkins Lyon, Washington, Pa.; Mrs. Emma Marshall, San Diego, Cal., formerly of Connellsville; Mrs. Mary A. Beazell, Webster, Pa. Deceased was a member of the First Baptist church and of King Solomon Lodge No. 346, Free and Accepted Masons. In politics he was a Republican.

By a dispatcher for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Lindley will prove, McDonald said, that he came out on the evening train from Pittsburgh. According to the story Lindley went at once to the Barker office and arranged for a conference that night about 11 o'clock. They went up the elevator together, he said, shortly before 11.

In the conference there, he said, the two men decided to settle the differences and avoid the court trial over alleged misuse of funds set for the next day. Barker asked that he be allowed to consult his lawyer before signing the agreement.

A calendar was lying on a table and Lindley was attracted by its beauty. Barker told him to take it. Lindley said he was not going back to Pittsburgh the next day. Barker told him, he said, to address it and he would mail it.

Lindley left the building at 11:10 as above related and went to the Baltimore House where he talked with the proprietor, James O'Hara. At 11:30 he was in bed.

The next morning he intended to take the Pennsylvania train for Uniontown but, missed it. McDonald said and went over to the Baltimore & Ohio. After reaching McDonald's office he heard of the murder, for the first time.

The defense will prove, said McDonald, that Barker's life was threatened by another.

H. A. E. Ast, president of the Mutual Lumber company with which Lindley was employed in Pittsburgh, was the first witness for the defense. He said Lindley was in the office in Pittsburgh until 3:15 o'clock of December 18. Miss Evelyn Fisher, stenographer for the company, corroborated this.

James O'Hara, proprietor of the Baltimore House, Connellsville, said Lindley seemed in normal state when he came there at 11:15 o'clock the night of December 18 for a room. At 2 o'clock, he said, he went upstairs to awaken a deaf man who wanted to get a train, he made so much noise that Lindley stuck his head out to see what the trouble was. This was to establish that Lindley was in town over night.

With the examination of Wesley King, star witness for the prosecution, completed, the prosecution rested at 10:50 o'clock this morning in the trial of Frank A. Barker for the murder of Frank A. Barker before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in Uniontown. The defense was given until 1 o'clock to prepare for opening its case.

King testified that he had been employed as elevator operator in the Second National bank building for eight years. The night of the murder he said he took nobody to the eighth floor, where the DeLoe Lumber company's offices are located, but Barker, Lindley and W. E. Rice, whose offices are also there.

Lindley and Barker went up together about 10:40 o'clock, he said. Shortly afterward Rice went up. At 11:30 Rice came down.

About 12 o'clock the witness said he went to the basement to look after the furnace. When he returned, 10 minutes later, Lindley was in the foot of the stair, walking.

Says He Did So Because Operator Didn't Answer Ring

HAD DIFFERENCES SETTLED

Defendant and Barker Had Agreed to Withdrawal of Lawsuit.

HEARD OF CRIME NEXT DAY

Had no Intuition of Slaying of His Former Partner Until He Arrived in Uniontown Says His Counsel in Outlining What Defense Will Testify.

Frank M. Lindley knew nothing of the murder of his former partner Frank A. Barker until he arrived in Uniontown the morning following the crime. He had amicably settled his differences with Barker at a conference the night before in the office of Barker. He walked down the steps of the Second National bank building because his repeated pressure on the matter brought no response from the operator. He was in Pittsburgh until late in the afternoon of the preceding day and reached Connellsville on the Duquesne Limited that evening. These are some of the alleged facts the defense will attempt to prove, said Attorney D. W. McDonald, in outlining the case for the defense at the opening of this afternoon session of court before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen in Uniontown.

By a dispatcher for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, Lindley will prove, McDonald said, that he came out on the evening train from Pittsburgh. LINDLEY ACCOUNTS FOR WALKING DOWN THE BANK STEPS

"I asked him why he didn't ring for the elevator," he went on. "I thought you were busy so I just walked," he said Lindley replied. "I then asked him about Burke and what time he would be down."

"Oh, he's not ready. He went back to answer a telephone call," the witness said Lindley told him. "Leaving the building King said Lindley started toward Crawford avenue."

The first witness of the morning was District Attorney S. John Morrow, who said that a bloody newspaper found in the Delco office had disappeared from his office two or three days before the trial.

S. H. Howard testified of taking a photograph of the finger print on the wall between the eighth and seventh stories of the building but stated that the negative was so indistinct that he had not taken the effort to make a print. Mr. Howard also testified of taking photographs of the office rooms of the Delco-Lumber company but when the commissioner sought to introduce those in evidence strenuous objection was made by Attorney McKean.

Counsel for the defense contended that without doubt there were contained in the photographs many movable objects and for that reason he contested their admission. The photographs were taken the next day following the discovery of the body. It was testified, when every opportunity had been given to change the location of the desks and chairs in the rooms. If none of the furniture in the room was included in the photographs, Attorney McKean said he would withdraw his objection to their admission into the evidence. The commonwealth made no other effort to unbury the photographs.

A conversation between Lindley and Burke about 8 o'clock on the evening Burke was killed was related to the jury by Miss Alice Gandolfi stenographer for the Delco Lumber company. Miss Gandolfi stated that she had been called back to the office on the evening of the fatality to take some dictation from A. L. Schweblitz, manager of the company, and that she was waiting for him when Lindley came into the office. She said that Burke was there at the time and Lindley asked him if he was busy.

"Not exactly," the witness said Burke replied. "I have to go to see somebody and will be back later," Miss Gandolfi said Lindley stated as he left the office. Cross examination of the stenographer by Attorney McKean produced the statement that Burke and Lindley were apparently on good terms at the time and that no hard words were passed between them.

Virtual admission that comparison of finger prints will not constitute the connecting link in the chain of related circumstances the commonwealth is slowly developing in its efforts to convince the jury of the guilt of Lindley was made in the testimony introduced yesterday afternoon in the absorbing legal battle before Judge J. Q. Van Swearingen. The photograph taken of one bloody finger print proved to be so indistinct, it was testified, that no print had ever been made from the negative and the bits of blood-stained plaster taken from the wall at another place could not be analyzed to ascertain whether it really contained human blood as witnesses had testified it gave the appearance.

During the course of County Detective Smith's testimony he admitted that he had been unable to have an analysis made of the blood smear he scraped from the wall of the Second National Bank building. He said that he had approached a chemist named Fleming on the subject and had been told that not sufficient material had been secured from which to make an analysis.

Inability of the commonwealth to produce either the clothing worn by Mr. Burke when his body was found or the blood stained copy of a newspaper found on the table in the office of the company with the other documents already offered in evidence was severely criticized by Mr. McKean during his cross-examination of County Detective Smith.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Discoverer Tells Connelville Drug Store Not to Take a Cent of Anybody's Money Unless Alleviated. Completely Banishes All Rheumatism, Pains and Tremors.

Mr. James H. Allen suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be cured of rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery to others who took it, with what might be called marvellous success. After years of trying he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. Connelville Drug Store has been appointed agents for Allegheny in this vicinity with the understanding that he will freely return the purchase money to all who state they received no benefit.

THE PARAMOUNT:

THE WASP. The newest World picture, Brady made, in which Kitty Gordon, the internationally famous beauty, is seen in the leading role, is being shown today. This attraction is a drama of speedy action, and it presents Miss Gordon in one of the most thoroughly effective roles in which she has ever been seen. She plays the character of Grace Culver, Grace being known as "The Wasp" because of the stinging nature of the bitter remarks she makes about her friends, and things in general. The story tells of the efforts of a German spy to put out of commission the big war munitions factory operated by Grace's father. It tells of Grace's new and "fresh" chauffeur, who proves himself to be a sharp and gentlemanly despite his being a new recruit into the supervising manner in which happiness finally comes to the cynical Grace after she has lost faith in men and general. Many of the scenes are truly startling. The whole production has been staged on a scale of lavish splendor. Miss Gordon is supported by a very superior company, including Rockville Felloes, who appears as the chauffeur, William Culhoun and others. Patrons of the theater are interested in "Shirley Kays," Olaf Kimball Young's new picture, to be presented tomorrow and Saturday. Miss Young, it is supposed, is a German spy, who is being hunted by the Americans, who are shown in the picture in the charming screen actress, known and admired by all moving picture patrons. "Shirley Kays" shows the interrelation of social life with the high finance of today. In the picture Miss Young creates a role different from most of her interpretations in the past, but here too it arises to the high artistry always displayed by her.

THE ARCADE

"DAVIS GIRL REVIEW." Charlie Davis and his Girl Revue! pleased nice audiences at the Arcade yesterday in "Over The Phone." It is very much like Dave Marlon's "Snuffy, The Cabman," show, but Mr. Davis has a way of presenting the character in a manner that is all his own. His habit characterization is real funny. The show is full of bawdy and girls; but the laughs are frequent. Billy McCoy makes a good blackface, and divided the honors with Mr. Davis, although the show was not written for so much prominence by the blackface. Oliver Kight has a good acrobatic dance, clever parodies and makes a very Irish polliceman. The chorus sings and dances. The show is good looking. Baby Davis, the blonde soubrette, has sung her way into the hearts of the patrons although her selections have not been new. The show merits all the applause it gets. The picture was "Vengeance and the Woman," and one of the thrills is when the villains pry loose an immense boulder weighing many tons and cause it to go crashing down the mountain side crushing a house full of people. Both picture and show will be repeated today. Coming next week is Merberau's Mile-a-Minute show, featuring the Pullman Quartette and Simmy Walls, the impersonator of a colored man, and a great, colorful, and a good attraction will be Lorraine, the Girl of Mystery, of whom the Chicago Inter-Ocean says does the greatest mind reading act on the American stage. She will hold a ladies' reception on Thursday afternoon at which time any woman desiring to do so may consult her upon any subject.

THE ORPHEUM

"MY WIFE," featuring beautiful Anna May Wong, will be shown today. She junked the old beds and bought a four-poster. Beatrice Hammond was with Gerald Eyring, his guar-
 Man, a "matter of form," to save her fortune, which would have been forfeited if she had remained unwed after her 18th birthday. There was a dance in France, but he fell in love with a French nurse and—oh, well, meantime, Beatrice fell in love with her husband, who whirr! He had been crazy about her all the time. Friday and Saturday Julian Sittgen, the clever feminine impersonator, who for the past few years has been the sensation of the theatrical world appears in his photoplay for the Paramount "The Countess Charming."

THE SOLSON.

Never has a stock company captured the people of Connellsville as has the Jack Ball Stock company. It is safe to say that had they determined to stay three weeks longer, they would have put up the sign "standing room only." "The Girl of His Dreams," is certainly a pleaser. Manager Ball is to be congratulated on the accuracy with which he has determined the people's wants and the manner in which he has satisfied. He is also to

THE 75-MILE GUN.

The bombardment of Paris by a German cannon located 75 miles distant has seemed to most people so remarkable, if not impossible, that they have doubted the authenticity of even official reports of the occurrence. Some newspapers, lacking facilities for securing prompt and accurate news of the war, have been disposed to ridicule the whole affair. The fact remains, however, that the bombardment has taken place and the source whence the projectiles came has been definitely located, as well as other facts confirming the information that was first given to the world through the medium of the Associated Press. Incidentally other information has become available which shows that the only mystery concerning the long-distance bombardment was that thrown about it by the Germans themselves in the hope that they would thereby terrify the people of Paris and inspire fear and dread in all the cities and towns of both France and England, by the use of this uncanny method of long range destruction.

It develops, however, that what was regarded by some as a Jules Verne weapon of incredible power and range is nothing more than the natural result of a series of efforts made by inventors to produce a cannon, surpassing all previous weapons of this class.
As early as 1804 J. H. Brown, a Pennsylvania inventor, built a gun on his own design at an iron works in Reading which on a test by the United States government at the Sandy Hook proving grounds developed a theoretical range of 59 miles. Subsequently he built another which beat the performance of the first.

Within 10 years thereafter the Germans, evidently adapting Brown's system to the construction of monster guns, equipped three warships, with gunsmithing of 45 degrees, at an elevated angle of 45 degrees, gave a nine inch projectile, weighing 425 pounds, a range of 60 miles.

In view of these facts, which are matters of record, and taking into account the advances in gun engineering and design which have received great stimulus during the war, the shelling of Paris by a gun 75 miles distant loses its uncanniness, and lacking in effectiveness, also loses much of its terror as a new engine of German rightfulness.

STREET REPAIRS AND THE WATER COMPANY.

Councilman Berg's proposal to have the Conneltsville Water company repay Fairview avenue to compensate the city for damage done by the breaking of defective mains is all right, except in one particular. The city should not agree to make repairs elsewhere in compensation for the repairing of Fairview avenue. Both of these jobs should be done by the water company and even when completed to the satisfaction of the city authorities the debt the water company owes the city for the damage it has done the streets during all the years of its occupancy of them will be only in part discharged. The obligation to make these repairs lies solely with the water company. The city should assume no part of it whatever.
It is perhaps too much to hope that the general officers of the water company will voluntarily agree to any such arrangement as Councilman Berg proposes, although agreeing to do things and then forgetting to do them has long been the practice of this corporation. The city's legal department, fertile as it is in expedients, ought to be able to devise ways and means whereby something can be done to relieve the city of the necessity and expense of repairing the damage for which the water company is directly responsible.

We could not presume to dictate to the legal department what it should or can do, but we offer for its consideration this suggestion: If the water company refuses to make any street repairs, or such repairs as Councilman Berg deems proper it should make, why not have the city do the work and then apply the cost thereof, with interest, as an off-set against bills for hydrant rental for a few years until the account is squared? This may be a little crude as a legal proposition but it will be effective in securing justice for the city.

The 75-mile gun seems to have set off a lot of people saying a range of 75 or an inch or less.

Among the many pastors who have served the churches of Conneltsville during recent years, none beside the late Rev. C. E. Wagner have been held in higher esteem by the community at large or who have been closer to the hearts of the people of his congregation. Gentle and kindly, and unobtrusive in his manner, sincere, earnest and unflinching in his faithfulness to his charge, he exemplified in his life, as few have, the principles he taught both by precept and example. In his death his congregation and the community have suffered a loss that cannot be fully supplied except by another who possesses the same qualities of mind and heart.

With the Ukrainians making Odesa from the Austrians and Trotsky calling on the Russian army to rise and strike while the Germans are busy on the western front, there are indications that the Russian peace pact are of no better quality than some other products "Made in Germany."

The Germans don't make the British bulldozers, they chase the French or surrender to the Americans.

tation in decorating Hindenburg and his

Rippling Rhymes

WORRIED FARMERS.

The farmers were complaining:
The weather was so dry; and then it started raining from out a leaky sky; the rain came down in billows, mixed up with snow and hail, and by the weeping willows the farmers raised a wail.
The farmers are allowing the ground is now so wet, they cannot stir the plowing which is their one best bet.
They're beading and they're roaring, they cannot sow their beans, they have to do their churning in boats and submarines. I've never known a stranger who wasn't feeling sick, who was to suffer a stranger, who didn't like a kick.
The banker and the baker are smiling, cheerful men, and even the undertaker will gambol now and then. The butcher and the grocer will raise a glad hooray, when spring is drawing closer, and like the lambkins play. The sexton and the pastor find life is full of pleasure, and they'll forget disaster until disaster comes. The lawyer and the linker, the justice of the peace, pronounce this world as a clunker, and life as slick as grease. But always and forever the farmer's face is grim;
the gods all make endeavor to put a crimp in him. A song of woe, "wair-ing," is coming from his throat; the planets are conspiring to gather in his goal. To him there's nothing changing beneath the sullen sky—and if you've followed farming, you'll know the reason why.

EVER READY FOR FIRES

ELABORATE PRECAUTIONS TAKEN AT GOVERNMENT POSTS.

Circle Sam Furnishes an Excellent Example to the Country in This Respect—Few Losses by Conflagrations in the Army.

Perhaps the low percentage of fires in the army is directly due to the fact that guard duty is never suspended.

In daylight and dark, during peace or in time of war, armed sentries walk their posts scattered everywhere over the garrisons. Falling asleep while on guard is a serious offense. Therefore the guards are always alert. Never has sentry mounted on a post without a caution to look out for fires.

One of the first charges in a guard's general orders is one in which he is cautioned to keep a sharp watch for fire. His first duty, in case a building is occupied by humanity, is to warn the occupants. Next he turns in a general alarm. And when fire call is blown by the trumpeter at the main guard house every male member of the garrison, except the guard, is compelled to hurry to the scene of the fire, to meet there the fire and no matter how he is treated.

It is not necessary that a man should be in regulation uniform to respond to a fire call. Military fires do not wait for antagonists in full dress parade costume, any more than they wait for the members of the department make careful efforts.

Once a week, sometimes oftener, in every military garrison, large or small, throughout the country, and there are several hundred at home and in our possessions, a fire drill is held. Not a soul here the commanding officer is advised of what hour of the day or night or on what day of the week a fire call will be blown. As fires do not give warning of their coming, writes Monroe Woolley in Insurance Engineering, it is obviously advantageous that a fire drill should be as uncertain.

When the fire call goes, either for drill or for a fight for life and property, the soldiers rush out of their quarters, leave their posts in the company kitchen, and on the drill grounds, picking up fire buckets and fire axes as they go in the race for the fire station. Some may be careless, some careless and others careless. But it is an honor to be among the first to take hold of the fire equipment.

All the officers dash for the fire house, too, and the highest ranking officer present assumes the duties of fire chief. A run is made with chemical engines and hand drawn hose carts and hook and ladder trucks for a building designated as the scene of the fire. When the equipment is out for a fire drill the men take advantage of the occasion and play water on the windows of buildings, giving them a good cleaning.

The amount of fire fighting apparatus furnished the posts by the government for their protection is regulated, of course, entirely by the size and needs of each post.

Confirmed for Rheumatism.

Rev. Joshua Kimber, in his "Reminiscences," tells the following anecdote of the late Bishop Horatio Potter.

He had been journeying up the east bank of the Hudson river, stopping for confirmation each day at adjoining parishes. When he reached Poughkeepsie he saw a woman at the rail waiting for confirmation whose face he was sure he recognized and was somewhat familiar with. He was also certain that she had been confirmed within the week at another place. The bishop whispered to her to remain after service, and said:

"My dear madam, what do you mean by coming for confirmation? I am sure I confirmed you on Monday at such a place." Did I not?"

She said: "You certainly did. I have been following you up the river and have been confirmed every day this week."

He, astonished, said: "Why do you do that?"

Whereupon she replied: "Because I heard it was good for rheumatism."

Hired to Stick.

The jury, after long deliberation, seemed unable to agree in a perfectly clear case. The judge, thoroughly exasperated at the delay, said:

"I discharge this jury."

One sensitive juror, indignant at what he considered a rebuke, faced the judge.

"You can't discharge me," he said with a tone of conviction.

"And why not?" inquired the judge in surprise.

"Because," announced the juror, pointing to the lawyer for the defense, "I was hired by that man here!"

Winning the Debutante's Smile

It is silk and cotton for summer frocks, and here are two of them designed for the young girl, that will make her more than glad that she is alive in a silk and cotton summer.

All the pretty, old-time gingham patterns have been interpreted in taffeta and voile and their inventors of long ago would be delighted with their elegance and quaintness in these fine-grained fabrics. Some of the new frocks in plaid or crossbar taffeta go to the length of copying apron styles with certain little restrictions and added touches to prove that they are not serious minded and have no idea of following the useful career of aprons.

The pretty frock of corn-colored, crossbar taffeta shown at the left of the picture has the plainest and simplest of pleasant waists, made of plain corn-colored taffeta; with sleeves of georgette crepe. It has patch pockets tucked across the top, that design to remind us of the apron pockets, and an ingenious collar made just to suit the frock. This little model is satisfied with a plain, straight and narrow skirt, that turns neither to the right nor to the left, but pursues its way undisturbed by ruffles or laces, to the ankles of its wearer. It proclaims the straight silhouette and leaves us guessing as to just where it fastens.

Cough Nearly Gone in 24 Hours

That's the usual experience with this home-made remedy. Own little—try it.

Anyone who tries this pleasant fast-acting, home-made cough syrup, will quickly understand why it is used in more homes in the United States and Canada than any other cough remedy. The way it takes hold of an obstinate cough, giving immediate relief, will make you regret that you never tried it before. It is a truly dependable cough remedy that should be kept handy in every home, to use at the first sign of a cough during the night or day time.

Any doctor can testify to its worth. Pour this into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The final cost is about 65 cents and you have a full pint of the most effective remedy you ever used.

The quick, lasting relief you get from this excellent cough syrup will really surprise you. It promptly breaks the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and opens your cough slope entirely. Splendid for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of Norway pine extract, and in famous the world over for its healing effect on the membranes.

To avoid disappointment ask for "Pinex" and get it in full directions and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Morning Exercises.

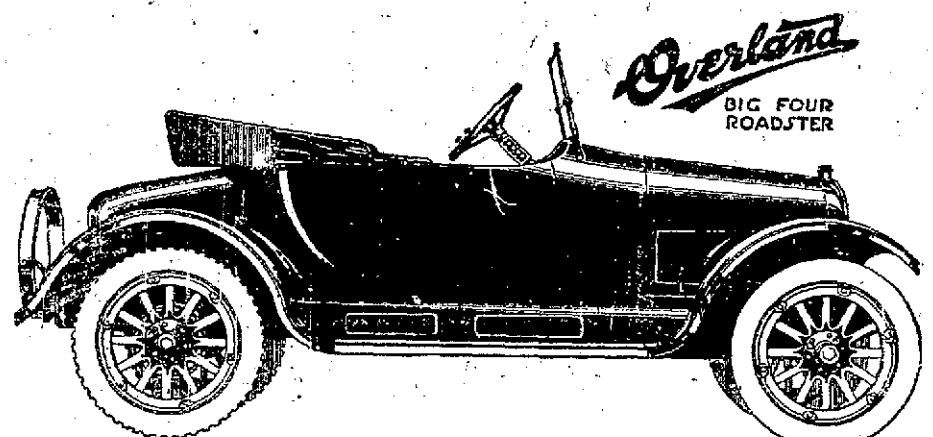

Calisthenics taken in the early morning do much to keep up the general health. Standing, warmly but loosely clad, at an open window and inhaling deep breaths of fresh air will stimulate the blood quickly. This might be followed with two or three easy exercises. One might consist of doubling the fists, placing them at the shoulders, and then thrusting them out at arms' length swiftly. After that it would be well to bend, trying to touch the floor with the finger tips without bending the knees. These calisthenics might be concluded with a final one of kneeling and bending forward the floor from the waist. The whole performance need not take more than five minutes, and will do more to make circulation lively and muscles in good condition than any amount of medicine.

Mourning the Departed.

The newest thing in mourning is dark blue. It is not for the sad half of the ménage, but for the widow who disapproves with her other half, who seeks the courts to cut the knot. Such a person was seen yesterday and when asked if she had lost some one replied: "Yes, my husband." "When did he die?" "Don't understand." "I divorced him, I felt for a time that I should retire quietly, and now that I have remarried I wear a compromise color—blue. I didn't really dislike my husband, but I had to divorce him. His mourning is half for him and half for the memories. But, poor boy, he married again. His stenographer."—New York Tribune.

OH! THAT AWFUL BACKACHE IT'S YOUR KIDNEYS

An unhealthy body, and the unhappiness and misery which follow, may be prevented by ordinary judgment and care. Keep your kidneys and kidneys in shape and you will have good health. The kidneys' work is to throw off the poisonous matters which enter the body if they perform this work regularly and automatically the other organs will take care of themselves.

Diseased conditions of the bladder or kidneys are indicated by nervousness, sleeplessness, that tired, worn-out feeling, dizziness, nausea, backache, lumbar, rheumatism, pain in the lower abdomen, many so-called "female troubles," severe pain and discomfort when urinating, bloody, cloudy and stringy urine, too frequent or suppressed passages. All these are nature's signals to warn you of diseased kidneys or bladder, which may lead to fatal Bright's disease.

Don't wait until the danger is upon you. Go to your druggist at once. Get a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Haastem Ointment. They are made of the pure, original imported Haastem Ointment. The kind your great-grandfather used. About two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Money refunded if they do not help you. But remember to ask for the imported GOLD MEDAL brand. In sealed packages. 25c, 50c and $1.00—Adv.

COMB SAGE TEA IN FADED OR GRAY HAIR

If Mixed With Sulphur It Darkens So Naturally Nobody Can Tell.

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe. Improved by the addition of other ingredients, all ready to use, at very little cost. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

A well-known downtown druggist says everybody uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. It's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears. After another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful. This preparation is a delightful toilet requisite. It is not intended for the cure, mitigation or prevention of disease.—Adv.

WANT SOME TOBACCO

Otherwise Colored Boys in France Have All Needs Supplied.

The colored boys of this section who are with the American Expeditionary Forces in France are sending encouraging word to their friends back home. Among these now on duty overseas are George Mills, son of Mrs. J. W. Mills of South Seventh street, West Side, and Richard Thompson, son of Mrs. Jennie Thompson, formerly of Trotter, but now residing at Continental. Both are members of Company C, 506th Engineers.

In a recent letter to his mother Private Mills reports being well, that he is getting along nicely and likes the place where his command is located—very well. He asks that Rev. R. D. Epps arrange to have smoking tobacco sent to the boys in France; also requests his father to tell him what the Elks are planning to do to care for their members abroad.

Private Thompson in a letter to his pastor, Rev. R. D. Epps, says that he is in the very best of health. "I enlisted," he writes, "in the service of my God a number of years ago and I am now giving my very best to my God and my Country. Hope I will return some day and remain a soldier of God until death."

Dickerson Run.

DICKERSON RUN, March 27.—Pittsburg and Lake Erie officials including General Manager J. B. Yoke, A. D. Brown and J. A. Atwood, arrived here yesterday afternoon and after looking over the work on the new bridge departed for Pittsburg.

Plans and arrangements were completed a short time ago for the new passenger and freight depot here, and bids were to be asked for and at about that time the government advised against using any money for such purposes during the war, so that project has been postponed until after the war.

The Festival Of Passover

The festival of Passover (Hebrew, Pesach) coincides roughly with the beginning of the spring season. It commemorates Israel's delivery from Egyptian slavery. In the Jewish calendar, its date is fixed from the 15th to the 22nd of Nissan, which this year, corresponds with March 23th to April 4th.

Another name for this annual celebration of freedom is the festival of Matzoth (unleavened bread) because throughout the feast only unleavened bread is to be eaten. In fact, all food substances that contain ferment or acid must be removed from Jewish homes prior to the holidays, so that there will be no likelihood of transgressing the Biblical injunction against leaven being found in the house. Jews of the Reform wing observe seven days as against eight of the Conservatives. Of these days, the first and the last (for the former), the first two and the last two (for the latter) are observed as full holidays. The intermediary four or five days are of a lesser degree of sacredness. The evening of the first and second days is characterized by a special service called the Seder, in reality a meal of oriental fashion.

The rich symbolism of this meal is to be explained as follows: The roasted lambbone is reminiscent of the Passover sacrifice; the "matzoth" or unleavened bread recalls the haste with which the Israelites left Egypt, with no time to prepare the bread for the journey; the "maror" or bitter herb reminds of the bitterness of the slaves' life in Egypt. There are also at the festive board a roasted egg which is substitute for the ancient sacrifice, salt water, suggestive of the tears shed by the slave ancestors of the Israelites, and "charoseth," a mixture of almonds and apples, not unlike in appearance to the mortar which the slaves used in making bricks. The whole ceremony is an explanation of these symbols, a recounting of Israel's stay in Egypt and of his marvelous deliverance, of God's watch over his chosen people throughout their his-

CALL HOBEY BAKER, FORMER PRINCETON STAR, A "TIREUR D'ELITE" IN FRANCE

"Tireur d'Elite." That is what they call Lieutenant Baker of the United States army aviation section over in France. "Hobe" Baker, as he is known in the sporting world, formerly the captain and star of the Princeton football and hockey teams. No one who remembers Hobe on the gridiron or on the ice or his wonderful nerve and eye will be surprised to hear that his shooting was the wonder of his instructors and that his average was declared to be outstanding.

It explains the prominence to which the one-time Princetonian has already attained in aviation and why he is the first American flier operating under the Stars and Stripes to bring down an opponent in a fight in the air.

Only two United States aviators have so far been brevetted from the highest schools of France. The two, who are graduates of the Ecole de Chasse from Avord, France, are: "Hobe" Baker and Edwin Post, Jr., of New York city. Of these two Lieutenant Baker made the better shooting average and Lieutenant Post the better flying performance.

TWO GOOD TALES OF TRAPSHOOTERS

Bandmaster Sousa Becomes Good Shot, but Fred Gilbert Is No Drummer.

DESIRED TO BE A MUSICIAN

Spirit Lake Silver Cornet Band Still Looking for Someone to Beat Big Bass Drum—Where Marshall Learned A. B. C's.

Many are the tales told among trapshooters about members of the clan and their doings. Two of the stories that have gone the rounds of the trap fraternity are given here.

John Philip Sousa, the bandmaster, and Fred Gilbert, the professional trapshot, are friends of long standing. Sousa at a dinner given to Gilbert's honor, told of his first meeting with "Frits" and the proposal that Gilbert teach Sousa how to shoot trap pigeons, in return for which instruction, Sousa was to teach Gilbert the most approved way to play a bass drum.

As the music master told it, "Frits" had confided his great ambition to become the best drummer of the Spirit Cornet Band of Spirit Lake, Ia., in his home town, while, on the other hand, Sousa told Gilbert that since he was known among trapshooters as a musician, he was desirous of making a reputation among musicians as a trap shooter.

Mustard Boon Boats

The teams were accepted by both the party of the first part and the party of the second part, and instruction began. However, according to Sousa, while Gilbert quickly mastered the boom beats on the drum, he has never succeeded in progressing to the burp, boom, boom, stomp, and the S. R. C. of Spirit Lake still needs a bass drummer.

Sousa's high scores at the trap pay tribute to the great musician as a pupil and "Frits" Gilbert as an instructor.

The "hero" of this narrative is Tom Marshall, the dean of sharpshooting and the game's "official scorer."

Learned His A. B. C's. When the all-American trapshooting team returned from England, after having defeated the best shooting talent of the British Isles, Captain Marshall, with several of his teammates, toward a number of states giving exhibitions of shooting skill in an effort to popularize trapshooting.

Captain Marshall acted as spokesman.

He contended, however, that the order was not put into effect, and that he was kept with his command until December 12.

men of the "missionaries," and preceded his explanation of the sport with a few well-chosen words, in which he paid tribute to the particular city in which the demonstration was held.

We are told that among the things he said was: "It is with peculiar pleasure that I come here to — a place so intimately associated with my early days, for it was in the little red schoolhouse over yonder (there is always a little R. B. over yonder in every section) that I learned my A. B. C's."

This, most little "Frits" invariably made a hit, and was given liberal space in the newspapers of the towns until the editors, through an exchange, discovered that "Tom" had learned his "A. B. C's" at least 25 times in as many different places.

It is needless to say that thereafter Captain Marshall never made reference to his early education.

The OFFICIAL LABORATORY MODEL IN AN EXQUISITE WALNUT CABINET

No instrument in its field approaches the New Edison in quality. That's plain to anyone who has ever heard it. But what I want to know is why. What are the scientific reasons? Often musicians ask us this. It's a long story, too long to tell here. Mr. Edison's own Laboratory secrets enter into it. But there's more than that. It's largely a matter of an ideal—a policy of absolute insistence upon perfection.

Take the graceful William and Mary cabinet pictured at the left as an instance. When it was concluded to offer the Official Laboratory Model in walnut, in addition to the popular Chippendale Cabinet, the country's leading makers were asked to submit designs. Forty different sketches were received. They were carefully studied with the result that twenty-five were rejected. That left fifteen; every one of them a real masterpiece. But the Edison Company wanted the best, the one ultimate, perfect model. So, from each sketch, a sample cabinet was actually constructed. A jury then inspected them carefully and finally the model you see was selected.

This process of elimination characterizes every step in the design and manufacture of this wonderful instrument.

In fact the most expensive watch is no more rigidly inspected and carefully constructed than

CHAPTER VI.

The Quest Begins.

When O'Reilly had finished his second reading of the letter there were fresh blots upon the pitifully untidy pages. "I write slowly, only the ink is poor. There is little of anything here at Asenior's house. It is cold before the dawn. Poor little Rosa! He had always thought of her as so proud, so high-spirited, so playful, but another Rosa had written this letter. Her appeal stirred every chord of tenderness, every impulse of chivalry in his impressionable Irish nature. "O God! Come quickly, if you love me." He leaped to his feet; he dashed the tears from his eyes.

Johnnie's preparations were conducted with vigor and promptitude; within two hours his belongings were packed. He added his hat and hastened downtown to the office of the Cuban Junta.

A businesslike young man inquired his errand. Johnnie made known a part of it, and then asked to see someone in authority. In consequence, perhaps, of his Irish smile or of that persuasiveness which he could render almost irresistible when he willed, it was not long before he gained admittance to the presence of Mr. Enriquez, a distinguished, scholarly Cuban of middle age.

O'Reilly plunged boldly into the heart of the matter which had brought him thither. When he had finished his tale Mr. Enriquez inquired:

"But how do you expect me to help you?"

"I want your advice more than your help, although you might tell me where I can find Colonel Lopez."

Enriquez eyed his caller keenly.

"That information would be very well worth having," said he. "But, you understand, we know little about what is going on in Cuba—far less than the Spaniards themselves. I'm afraid I can't help you."

"You don't take me for a spy, do you?" Johnnie asked, with his friendly grin.

"Ah! You don't look like one, but we never know whom to trust. This young lady in whom you are interested, who is she?"

"Her name is Varona; Miss Rosa Varona."

"So?" Enriquez raised his brows.

"Not by any chance the heiress to that famous Varona treasure?"

"Exactly!—if there is such a thing. Here! Read this. I want you to believe me. I've written the letter before her portrait. I'm not in the habit of showing my letters to strangers, but I guess that'll convince you I'm not a spy."

He sat silently while the letter was being read; nor was he disappointed in the result. Mr. Enriquez raised dark, compassionate eyes to his, saying:

"This is a touching letter, sir. I thank you for allowing me to see it. No, I don't doubt you, poor Cuba! Her sons must be brave, her daughters patient."

"Well! You understand why I must go quickly, and why I can't chance delay by going either to Matanzas or to Havana. I want to land somewhere further east, and I want you to help me to find Colonel Lopez."

Mr. Enriquez frowned thoughtfully.

"What I just told you is literally true," he said at last. "We work in the dark up here, and we don't know the whereabouts of our troops. But—I have a thought." He expressed himself and left the room. When he returned he explained: "I don't have to tell you that we are watched all the time, and that for us to resist you openly would be liable to defeat your purpose. But I have just telephoned to a man I can trust, and I have told him your story. He has relatives in Cuba and he agrees to help you if he can. His name is Alvarado." Writing an address upon a card, he handed it to O'Reilly. "Go to him, tell him what you have told me, and do as he directs. Another thing, don't return here unless it is necessary; otherwise when you land in Cuba you may have cause to regret it."

Doctor Alvarado, a high type of the Cuban professional man, was expecting O'Reilly. He listened patiently to his caller's somewhat breathless recital.

"You do well to avoid the cities where you are known," he agreed. "But just how to reach the insurgents?"

"If you'd merely give me a letter saying I'm a friend—"

The doctor promptly negatived this suggestion. "Surely you don't think it can be done as easily as that?" he inquired. "In the first place, wherever you land, you will be watched and probably searched. Such a letter, if discovered, would not only end your chances, but it would bring certain disaster upon those to whom it was written. My two brothers, Tomas and Ignacio, reside in Cuba, and we all work for the cause of independence in our own ways. I am fortunately situated, but they are surrounded by dangers, and I must ask you to be extremely careful in communicating with them, for I am placing their lives in your hands and—I love them dearly."

"I shall do exactly as you say."

"Very well, then! Go to Neguitas, where Tomas lives—there is a steamer leaving in three or four days, and you can arrange passage on her. He is a dentist. Meet him, somehow, and make yourself known by repeating this sentence: I come from Felipe. He told me how you whipped him to keep him from going to the Ten Years' war! That will be enough; he will ask you who you are and what you want. You won't need to say anything more. No living soul, except Tomas and I, knows that he thrashed me, but it is true. He will understand from the message that I trust you, and he will help you to reach the rebels, if such a thing is possible. Come and see me when you get back, and bring me news of Tomas. Now, adios, compadre."

"Adios, señor! I am deeply grateful!"

O'Reilly had no difficulty in securing passage direct to Neguitas on the English steamer Dunham Castle, and a few days later he saw the Atlantic highlands dissolve into the mists of a winter afternoon as the ship headed outward into a misty running sea.

Cuba, when it came fairly into sight, lay bathed in golden sunshine, all warmth and welcome, like a bride upon an azure couch. The moist breath from her fragrant shores swept over the steamer's decks and Johnnie O'Reilly smiled it joyfully.

Although there were but a few passengers on the Dunham Castle, they were subjected to a long delay, during which suspicious customs men searched their baggage and questioned them. Finally, however, O'Reilly found himself free to go ashore.

El Gran Hotel Europa, Neguitas' leading hotel, bore its name. It was far from large, and certainly it was anything but European, except, perhaps, in its proprietor's extravagant and un-American desire to please, at any cost. But it was the best hotel the place afforded, and Senor Carbajal was the most attentive of hosts.

He evinced an unusual interest in the affairs of his American guest, and soon developed a habit of popping into the latter's room at unexpected moments, ostensibly to see that all was as it should be. When, for the third time, he appeared without knocking, O'Reilly suspected something.

"You have everything, eh?" Mr. Carbajal teased upon the heels of his feet while his small black eyes roved inquisitively.

"Everything in abundance."

"You are a pleasure traveler? You see the sights, is that it? Well, Cuba is beautiful."

"I'm not a tourist. I travel for my health," said O'Reilly.

"You—Health?" Carbajal's frame began to heave; his bulging abdomen oscillated as if shaken by some hidden hand. "Good! Ha! There's another joke for you."

"I'm a sick man," O'Reilly insisted, hotly.

"You don't look sick," mumbled Carbajal. "Not like the other Americans."

"What other Americans?"

"A peculiar fellow. He went on to Puerto Principe. What a cough! And he was as thin as a wire. He pined at the mouth, too, all the time, when he was not reviling my hotel. You'll see him if you go there, provided he hasn't come apart with his coughing. I believe he writes for newspapers. Well, it is my pleasure to serve you. Command me at any hour." Mr. Carbajal rose reluctantly and went wheezing downstairs to his grimy tables and the files.

CHAPTER VII.

The Man Who Would Know Life.

Later that day O'Reilly set out to reconquer the city of Neguitas. He was followed, of course—he had expected as much, and the circumstances amused rather than alarmed him. But when he returned to his hotel, and found that his room had been visited during his absence he felt a hint of uneasiness. Evidently, as Doctor Alvarado had foreseen, the authorities were interested in him; and he had further evidence of the fact when he learned that the room next him was occupied by the very man who had shadowed him on the street. Inasmuch as the intervening wall was no more than a thin partition, through which his very breathing could be heard, while his every movement could doubtless be spied upon, O'Reilly saw the

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No gripping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth" now and then—a bad breath—a dull, tired, feeling-sick headache—torpid liver and are constipated, you'll find quick, sure and only pleasant results from one or two little Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take one or two every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c per box. All druggists.

Strive To Have Healthy Skin

Next time you are in a gathering of women note the different conditions apparent in complexion. You will see some filled with blackheads, some dry and rough, some smooth and creamy, some covered with rouge, some streaked with heavy metallic powders and once in a while you will see one that is a demonstration of intelligence from every point of view. The color is rosy, the skin is clear and smooth, the pores are small and open, the powder does not show on the firm vigorous skin. Every woman can have a good complexion if she will only use a little discretion. If you would acquire real beauty, the beauty of perfect health, you must replenish your worn-out nerves with leithin. Nature's own nerve restorer, and put into your blood the invigorating from which Nature intends it to have for health. In most of the modern fads these and other vitalizing elements have been largely eliminated. Yet to be healthy and beautiful the system must have them. They are found in Bio-faren, not only in proper proportions to restore weakened vitality but in such form as the system can best assimilate them. A treatment of leithin and Bio-faren increases the appetite, aids nutrition and invigorates the system. The Bio-faren in its pellet form is easy and palatable to take—no liquid.
